DAYLIGHT-SAVING WIDELY IGNORED

Street Car and Bus Lines Find Traffic Has Not Moved Forward an Hour.

The street car and bus companies are becoming more convinced each day that traffic to and from the heart of the city has not moved ahead one hour since the government departments began operating from 8 to 3:30 o'clock instead of from 9 to 4:30.

The Washington Rapid Transit Company has gone back to its regular schedule. President Killeen said the company found there was more demand for the buses between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning than between 7 and 8 o'clock.

The Capital Traction Company, which on May 15 moved its entire schedule ahead one hour, has found it necessary to add extra cars late at night for the reason that many people are remaining downtown as late as they ever did, despite the earlier ending hour.

Additional Night Service. On the line from Georgetown to 17th street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast, the company will maintain a five-minute schedule of cars from 11:30 o'clock to midnight and a ten-minute headway from midnight to 12:30 o'clock. The morning and evening owl service will continue as usual.

Between the 14th street barn and Union station there will be a ten-minute headway from 11:50 to 12:50. The last car before owl service will leave Union station at 1:30 a.m.

The last regular car northbound on 7th street from Pennsylvania avenue to Rock Creek will leave at 12:38. The last car from Union station to Takoma will leave the depot at 12:44. The Washington Railway and Electric Company announced Tuesday that it had added special service late at night on its lines.

New Bus Line to Start. President Killeen of the transit company announced today that another bus line would start before June 1 on Massachusetts avenue from Union station to Sheridan Circle.

On June 1 the bus company will begin issuing transfers between its several lines at these two intersections: 8th and 12th street and Scott circle and 12th street and Massachusetts avenue.

The company this week began operations on its new line from 1st street and Rhode Island avenue north-west to Center market and to Potomac Park.

AERO MEN INVITE HARDING.

President Harding has under advisement an invitation, formally extended to him yesterday afternoon, to attend the National Aeronautics Congress to meet in Detroit, Mich., in September. The invitation committee was headed by S. D. Waldron, and was introduced to the executive by Maj. Gen. M. W. Patrick, chief of the United States air service.

CONVERTING VOLSTEAD ON TRIP TO MILWAUKEE FURNISHES HOUSE LAUGH

During a full in House proceedings yesterday, Representative Mondell, the republican leader, sought permission to shift the program next week.

"My reason for asking the change," said Mr. Mondell, "is due to the fact that the gentleman from Minnesota, Mr. Volstead, has an engagement Wednesday in Milwaukee."

"Reserving the right to object," said Representative Stafford, republican, whose home is in Milwaukee, "does it mean that the distinguished author of the Volstead law hopes to be converted after going there?"

"Let us hope it is the people of Milwaukee who will be converted," Mr. Volstead replied.

"I pray not," Mr. Stafford shot back, and the House laughed.

ASK VAN WINKLE PLEA BE QUASHED

Commissioners Say Warning to Policewoman Not Subject to Review.

In obedience to the writ of certiorari issued by Justice Hitz of the District Supreme Court, the District Commissioners late yesterday afternoon filed with Morgan H. Beach, clerk of the court, the voluminous record of the proceedings before the police trial board in the case of Lieut. Mina C. Van Winkle, head of the women's bureau.

At the same time, through Corporation Counsel Stephens and Assistant Corporation Counsel Williams, the Commissioners asked the court to dismiss Mrs. Van Winkle's petition for a review by the court of the finding of the trial board and of the action of the Commissioners sustaining the verdict of the trial board in toto.

Merely an Admonition. The Commissioners claim that the portion of the verdict in which the trial board asserted that Lieut. Van Winkle lacked proper conception of discipline is merely an admonition, which was not accompanied by a penalty, and which, they assert, is clearly within the jurisdiction of the trial board, which is the disciplinary body of the police department.

The finding of the board, they say, showed that the lieutenant was guilty of no offense, but that the board wished to admonish and caution her "with the purpose and effect of bringing her attention to the fact that, while her conduct as shown by the evidence adduced at the trial was not such as to warrant a finding of guilty, yet was such as to cause undue notoriety, to attach to herself and to the metropolitan police force in connection with the happening of a trivial and unimportant occurrence, and that a repetition of such conduct on the part of the petitioner herein or any other police officer was sought to be avoided."

Not Subject to Review. The verdict returned by the trial board was one of not guilty only, it is claimed, and did not constitute an invasion of the rights of Mrs. Van Winkle by the addition of the "admonition or warning."

The action of the trial board in adding this admonition, it is asserted, was clearly within its jurisdiction and is not the subject of review by the court. The petition, therefore, should be dismissed, the respondents aver.

Hearing on the motion to dismiss will probably be reached next Friday.

NAVY CLUB TO DINE.

Wardroom Organization Holds Banquet Tonight.

The Wardroom Club of Boston, an organization principally of naval officers of the Spanish-American war, will give a dinner in honor of Secretary of War Weeks and Secretary of Navy Denby at Rauscher's tonight. Secretary Weeks has been president of the club since its organization. Addresses will be made by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, Commander H. A. Brown, assistant naval attaché of the British embassy, and Admiral Bradley Fiske, who will speak on "Peace Potentialities of a Class Reunion in Japan." The dinner was arranged by Col. R. H. C. Kelton, James G. Porter of the Shipping Board and John B. Blood of the Interstate Commerce Commission, all three of whom are original members of the club.
